

Jeff Danner, D.D.S.

Home is where you make others smile, or so it seems for Dr. Jeff Danner, a general dentist in North Canton. Following graduation from Case Western Reserve's school of dentistry, the Canton native headed west to practice in Arizona, with a bright future and sunny weather. It wasn't until a return trip here to see family and friends that he realized something was missing: the intangible feeling of being "home" and contributing to the greater good of the community where he grew up.

More than 20 years later, his visions of bringing world-class dentistry to Stark County have made a dramatic impact on the smiles of many, including patients from numerous other states (and even other continents!) who regularly visit his office for their dental care.

"I'm pleased with the way that we are 'Defining Dentistry' by offering so much more than simply cleaning teeth and taking care of cavities. While routine care and regular checkups are essential, the foundation for good oral health and general health – patients today expect and deserve the ability to obtain the newest procedures available in dentistry, in a convenient manner, and from a caring team of experienced professionals they can trust," he said.

Through the years, Dr. Danner has traveled extensively to study techniques from the world's leading authorities on neuromuscular dentistry, craniomandibular orthopaedics, cosmetic and restorative procedures, and the responsible use of technology in the dental practice. Incorporating the type of dentistry found in major metropolitan areas while maintaining a home-town, friendly atmosphere has been an ongoing goal.
